RIGHT EATING PRACTISES

Why should one eat?
भोजन का उद्देश्य ?

RELATIONSHIP WITH FOOD

- Fried spicy food, cheesy food, fries, soft drinks, deserts - a lot of us turn to this for pleasure & as a treat for our taste buds
- Some use it to comfort bad moods, ease anxiety.
- These casual, unconscious eating habits come at a cost - indigestion, weight gain, mood swings.
- They take a toll on our mental health, emotional sensitivity & disrupt our inner harmony.
- When stepping into parenthood - the need is not just to eat healthy, but to honour food.
- Because what one eats and how one eats shapes not only the physical health - but also the mental, emotional & spiritual well-being of both parent and child.

Why should one eat food?

PRIMARY REASONS FOR EATING FOOD

Requirement

Mud & trees takes only that much water which it requires.

Desire

Makes the body elastic

Body heat / Enzymes

Because of enzymes in body

Habit

Habitual - memory of food. Not hungry, eat because it's time to eat

When one does stress eating - they maximum of the times tend to eat sweet & spicy because those who are stressed, need taste. But this doesn't get digested

Change eating philosophy,
Change eating habit,
Change eating style,

CHANGE TOTAL LIFE

- Parmatma Mahavir says there is another type of Food which is neither driven by desire nor by requirement.
- The purpose of that food is to “Achieve a goal/ fulfill a purpose/ accomplish a task”.
- Such people become great souls like Mahatma Gandhi, Vinoba Bhave, Bhagwan Mahavir, Guru Nanak and many more such examples.

Some eat food by becoming slaves of it
Some eat food by becoming a master of it
Only those who eat like a Master reach their destination

Eat with a goal - make food and water your powerhouse

Transform your plate
Transform your life
Eat with purpose & nourish an extraordinary being

Food becomes a powerhouse.

How to eat?

भोजन करने का सही तरीका ?

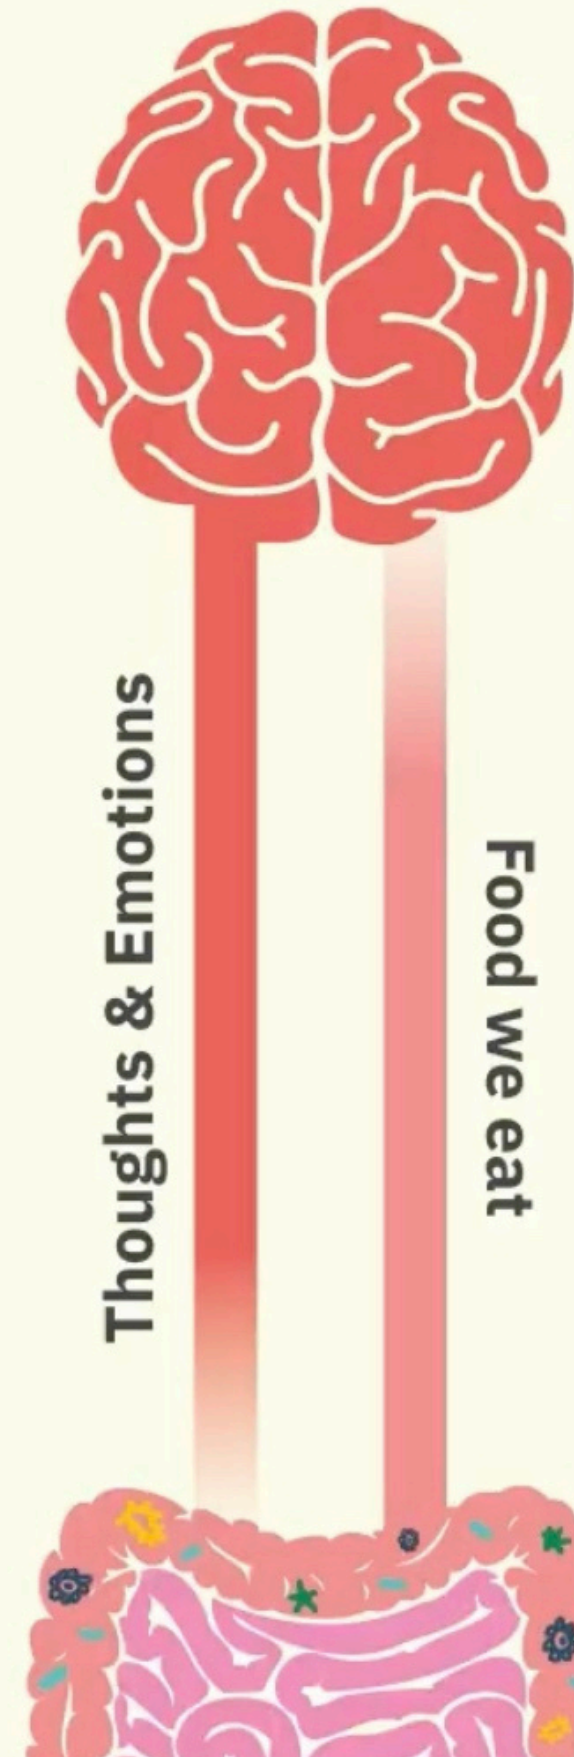

We become what we eat

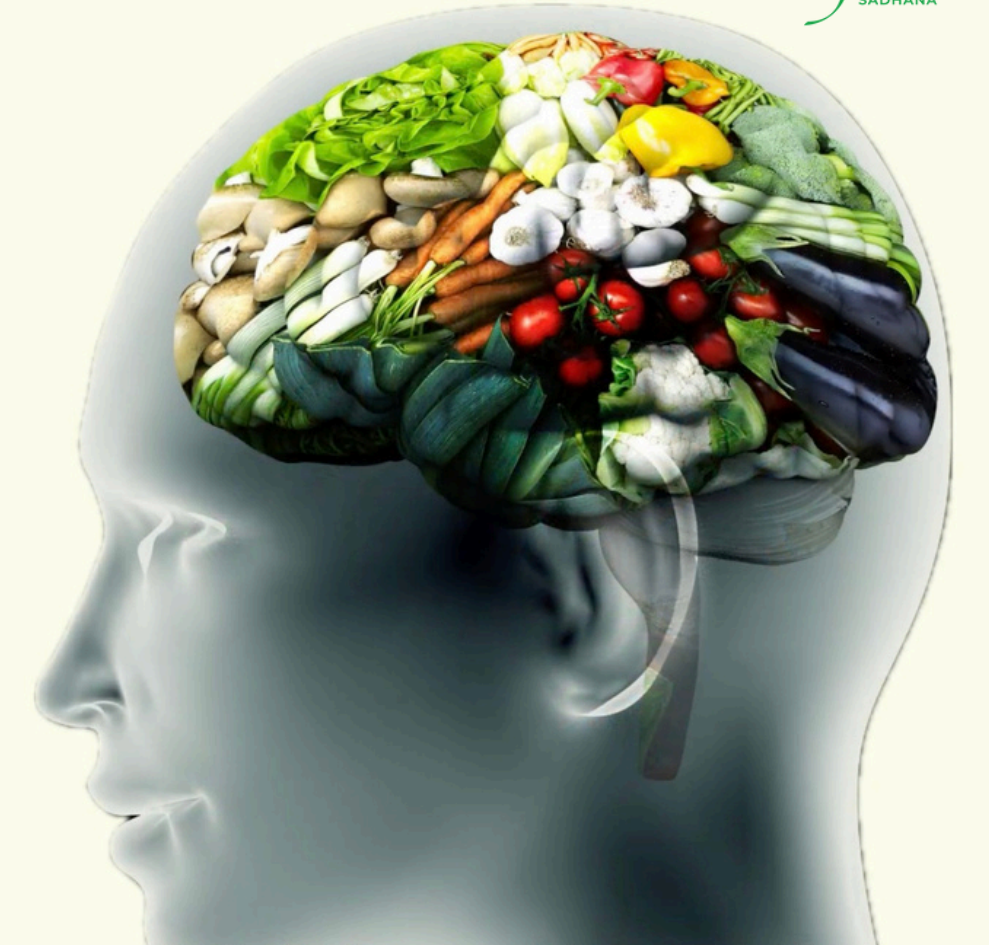

जैसा खाए अन्न, वैसा होई मन

Our food choices shape not just our physical health

There is a profound connection between our 'Thoughts &
Emotions' & the 'Food we eat'

But also how we think and feel

The food we eat influences our thoughts & feelings

This in turn impacts
how our body
digests & absorbs
the food

The relationship between 'Food' & 'Emotions' is Two-fold

The vagus nerve serves as a bridge - a 2 way communication channel between the 'Brain' & the 'Gut'

Both constantly sends signals influencing each other's functions

Have you noticed sometimes after eating you feel energized & joyful and at other times sluggish & irritable?

When we eat in stress

SYMPATHETIC

DISRUPTS DIGESTION

When we eat in peace

PARASYMPATHETIC

OPTIMIZING DIGESTION & METABOLISM

How to eat food?

Let's now hear from Gurudev,

WHAT YOU EAT VS HOW YOU EAT

- 1st principle- The way you eat, so does the mind become
- It's not what you eat that shapes your mind, it's also how you eat.
- There are 4 ways of eating
 1. भक्षण - Devouring like demons (attacking food aggressively)
 2. चर्वण - Animal's Way (to keep eating)
 3. भोजन - Human's Way
 4. प्रसाद - Sadhak's Way
- At this moment, you should eat food as Prasad.
- You only need to change your emotions to make the same food as Prasad.

Halwa
Made at Home

Prasad
Made at Temple

LOGICAL
ANALYTICAL

CREATIVE
EMOTIONAL

At any given moment, 1 side of the brain is more dominant than the other influencing thoughts, moods & actions. Our breathing pattern is directly connected to the brain activity. By consciously switching the active nostril, we can gently shift dominance from 1 brain hemisphere to the other helping us manage pain and discomfort.

1. When due to body pain, headache, stomach ache, vomiting, nausea or any other reason you feel like crying or get emotionally overwhelmed - practise Sankraman.

2. Process of Sankraman

- Notice where the breath is flowing from
- Whichever nostril it is flowing from block that nostril (either with hand or put some cotton)
- As soon as breathing starts smoothly from the other nostril - body pain disappears
- When left nostril is open, right brain is active and vice versa. When you change the breath → the brain's mood changes → the messages it sends changes → body's secretions change
